

Peru

Artículo 279-A del Código Penal Peruano:

“El que produce, desarrolla, comercializa, almacena, vende, adquiere, usa o posee armas químicas - contraviniendo las prohibiciones establecidas en la Convención sobre Armas Químicas adoptada por las Naciones Unidas en 1992 - o las transfiere a otro, o el que promueve, favorece o facilita que se realicen dichos actos será reprimido con pena privativa de libertad no menor de cinco ni mayor de veinte años.”

[unofficial translation]

Article 279-A of the Peruvian Penal Code:

“A person producing, developing, marketing, stockpiling, selling, acquiring, using or possessing chemical weapons - in contravention of the prohibitions established by the Convention on Chemical Weapons adopted by the United Nations in 1992 - or transferring them to another person, or a person promoting, encouraging, or facilitating such acts will be punished by a prison term of at least five and not more than 20 years.”

LEG/97-1005